Lutheran Social Services of Illinois

Disclosure of Any Lawsuits for Child Welfare or Adoption-Related Work

Three cases in which Lutheran Social Services of Illinois (LSSI) have been involved in meet the above criteria.

The first originated in 2002 and involved a private domestic adoption matter. A jury trial took place in May 2013 and the plaintiff won an award of approximately $30,000, much less than requested.

The second case involved the death of a child served in LSSI's foster care program for children who are wards of the State of Illinois. A child who had been formerly placed in an LSSI foster home was returned back to the care of his mother by the Juvenile Court of Cook County. The case was closed. The child subsequently died after case closure. The birth father filed suit against LSSI in 2012. The matter is currently pending. More detailed information available upon request.

The third case involves 2 adoptive parents who adopted a child from foster care. Their suit claims that LSSI knew that a child they adopted from foster care had been sexually abused and/or had displayed sexually problematic behaviors prior to placement in their home. LSSI states that it had no knowledge of any sexual abuse history or sexually problematic behaviors for this child. The matter is pending. More detailed information available upon request.
